HYPERION.

"The Merry World" will be presented this and to-morrow evening, with a matinee to-morrow afternoon. The entire company that has made such a great success of the piece at the Casino, New York, will be carried here together with the original costumes and scenic embellishments which altogether is on such an elaborate scale that only the larger cities will be played and that for an extended run. "The Merry World" is a caricature upon events at the different playhouses of New York during the past season, making sport with musical as well as dramatic matter, and has a sprightly joke for almost all of the entertainments that is of interest to the playgoing public. The performance which keeps the audience in almost continuous laughter recalls grotesque memories of "Sans Gene," "Dr. Syntax," "Rob Roy," "Wang," "Robin Hood," "Tillby" and various other things of recent dramatic and musical interest. It is an all-around, an amusing, a jolly, a crazy quilt of diversions, a kaleidoscope of countless things, people and incidents. The company numbers altogether over sixty, including a large chorus and many well known character and variety performers. The piece is presented in ten scenes and has been written by Edgar Smith and Nicholas Biddle. The music is by William Furst.

Sale of seats now open. Prices for the evening, $1.50, $1 and 75c. Matinee best seats, 50c.

The Terpsichorean sensation of last season in New York was Cissy Fitzgerald's dancing in "The Foundling." She comes here October 4 and 5, Friday and Saturday, at the Hyperion.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Despite the storm last evening one of the largest audiences of the season witnessed the presentation of the grand military play, "The Girl I Left Behind Me." The piece is one of the best of its kind that has been seen at this house. The extensive scale on which this stirring drama was given should revive the popular enthusiasm that attended its presentation in other cities. There were plenty of Indians around to mimic Port Kenna, and plenty of United States cavalry too. And when the blood thirsty red men are about to carry the post by storm to massacre the handful of brave men and carry off the women, and Kate Kennon's father, revolver in hand, is about to kill her to save her from falling into the hands of the savages, a troop of twenty men, led by the hero, Kate's lover, rushed in to the rescue. "That battle" incident was a great and moving one.

After so many farce comedies it was a relief to find a play which was sturdy, virile, strong and wholesome, in which love, heroism, patriotism, devotion and self sacrifice were treated in an interesting manner, skilfully and with no attempt to apologize for dealing with such honest sentiments.

Seldom has an audience been so startled out of its accustomed propriety. Applause, long, loud and hearty, and cheers given with vigorous lungs, proved how successful the authors had been in arousing the enthusiasm of the audience.

W. H. Stuart made a typical Indian fighter, one of the kind of soldiers who are a credit to the United States army. The heroine, Miss Selene Johnson, made a most intense and forcible Kate Kennon. Her acting was excellent. Miss Alberta Lee made a capital Indian maiden, and did well in her part. Miss Grace George was also most pleasing and the part entrusted to her care was maintained with great credit. Miss Vivian Ogden was very acceptable. Julian Barton and H. H. Forsman won success in the light comedy roles. Master Earl Lee did good acting in a boy's part. Others deserving of special mention are Frank Richardson, Duncan Preston, E. G. Spangler, Woodley Musson and Alfred Beaumont. The piece will be presented this and to-morrow evenings with matinee to-day and to-morrow. Prices at matinee 10c, 20c, 25c.

Burlesque and vaudeville will constitute the bill at the Grand Opera house the first three days of the coming week, and the City Sports Big Show, newly organized will provide the entertainment and many novelties and features are promised, including two new up-to-date burlesques. The acrobatic wonders, the Nelson Sisters, are still with the company and to those interested in this line no better act could be selected. A carefully selected number of specialty artists furnish the olio part of the program. Matinees Tuesday and Wednesday.

The beautiful naval drama, "Old Glory," will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week. Matinees Friday and Saturday. The cast of "Old Glory" this season is an exceptionally strong one and includes among others Arthur Moulton, a comedian known to all theater-goers, who enacts the role of "Jeremiah Flip," and also Lottie Williams, a soubrette of prominence, whose specialties are a feature.

POL'S WONDERLAND THEATRE. Jerome and Alexis again delighted large crowds yesterday afternoon and last evening with their marvelous bending and acrobatic twisting specialty. Among the crowd present last evening were a large body of Yale men, and especially prominent were the Cambridge athletes, who came for the last time before leaving New Haven to-day to enjoy the hospitality of Mr. Pol, who had kindly placed the freedom of the Wonderland at their disposal during the entire time of their stay in the city. The Cambridge men and Yale men were enthusiastic in their praise of the performances given, and all were emphatic in their declaration that nowhere in England or America can it be duplicated for the prices charged at the Wonderland. There is a matinee every day, the performances being continuous, and ladies are admitted to any part of the house for 10 cents.

Next week will appear Adolf Popper, the rat charmer of Hamelin, with his wonderful collection of one hundred white rats, which he charms in full view of the audience.
